Recent, new information in regard to Boarhead Farms site indicates the past burial of 100-200 drums of potentially explosive materials. At present the only "known" substance is sodium metal.

At an ad hoc brfg. today Abe and Tom indicated that rather than wait for our ARC's contractor to get on board with explosion precautions and sub-contractors it should be handled by Removal/ and possibly via ERT.

Non-intrusive testing suggests 28 different locations were test pitting is appropriate. Confidential sources confirm several of the locations. Many issues remain including access and possibly criminal investigatory efforts.

Jack Kelly will stop over to talk with you on Friday 8NOV91
Thanx
